Community Mailbox Clusters

The High Prairie Farms Metro District is responsible for the community mailbox clusters located within the district.

The following guidelines pertain to the mailbox clusters and the individual mailboxes with the clusters.

1. HPFMD is responsible for the repair or replacement of mailbox cluster housing / base / concrete pads that are damaged or have weathered or aged beyond their useful life.

2. Individual homeowners are responsible for individual mailbox access to include working with the US Postal Service for any individual mailbox repairs, lost keys or locking mechanism issues.

3. HPFMD will coordinate with the US Postal Service for repairs / keying issues as they relate to the community mail parcel boxes and the incoming mail panel located at the rear of the community mailbox clusters.

4. No informational postings are permitted on the community mailbox clusters. Any postings noted can and will be removed by District representatives to include but not limited to Director of operations and Board Members. Any damage caused by a posting to the mailbox box cluster to include but not limited to damage to surface / paint etc. will be the responsibility of the posting originator and may result in a fee being charged to restore the mailbox cluster to its original condition.

5. HPFMD is not responsible for individual mailboxes located on private homeowner properties as located in certain Filings in the District.
